

The London Paper
28th October 2006
Circulation: 400,000

thelondonpaper

Have your cake and eat it

Hyper organised workaholics with dinner party guests should take note: Paul, the French bakers, have launched a delivery service for the City. Electrical tricycles will rush platters of macarons, petit fours and cakes to your desk – great for those evenings when you're working late and are going to miss the shops. Breakfast croissants, pastries and sandwiches for lunch are also available. Join forces with colleagues for the minimum spend of £25 and order before 10am.

Call 0845 6120401 or www.paul-uk.com to check if they deliver to your place of work and download a fax order form.